Lives & Times

Achievements of the Famous and Remarkable, Age by Age

Edmund Morrison

Lives & Times offers a fresh approach to the biographical collection by ordering its entries according to the person's age when they recorded a memorable achievement – for example, aged thirty-four, Arthur Guinness founded his Dublin brewery, Patrick Moore first presented The Sky at Night and Kelly Holmes became a double Olympic champion.

There are over 1,000 entries in Lives & Times, spanning ages five to ninety-two, from the sixteenth century to the present day. Featuring Nobel laureates, pop stars, prime ministers, Olympic champions, Oscar winners and more, Lives & Times lets you see who has been doing what, when.

Filled with fascinating facts and individuals, Lives & Times is an ideal title for all ages and interests. If you have ever caught yourself thinking 'I'm too old' or 'I'm too young' then take a look inside and be inspired.

'big surprises in this addictive book' – Daily Mail
